Verse:

      G
I could sing you a tune and promise you the moon

                                             Am
But if that's what it takes to hold, I'd just as soon let you go

               D
But there's one thing I want you to know

        G
You better look before you leap, still waters run deep

                            Am
And there won't al..ways be someone there to pull you out
